STENSLAND OWNS UP

Tells of How He Commenced His Career of Wrong Doing,

IMPLICATES CASHIER

President of the Defunct Milwaukee Avenue State Bank Says That Hering Is Guilty of Considerable Misconduct.

Chicago, Sept. 4.—Paul Stensland, according to a cable dispatch to the Tribune, made a confession to Assistant State's Attorney Olsen which clears up much of the mystery surrounding events leading up to the crash which involved the ruin of the Milwaukee Avenue State bank. He took much of the blame upon himself, but declared, it is alleged, Cashier Hering got most of the money. Stensland exonerated Theodore, his son, and the bank directors. He declared he never spent more than $5,000 a year himself, and all the money he stole he put into real estate or investments in the hope of "making good."

He said he made up his mind to flee on the third day preceding the Sunday in which he left Chicago. All Wednesday night he wrestled with the problem whether to blow his brains out or run away. In the hours of darkness he decided to kill himself, but postponed the act until dawn, and with the sunlight came the primal instinct to hold on to life and flight won over death. His preparation was hurried. He surrendered his life insurance policy for $5,000 and received $8,000 as commission on the sale of the property of the co-operative store to the Northwestern Life Insurance company, which held a mortgage lien on the premises. He drew $1,500 as salary from the Mount Olive Cemetery association. This was all the money he had taken with him.

"Why, with $1,000,000 cash in the bank, did you not take more?"

"I could have taken a quarter of a million dollars without any trouble," said he, "but did not want to. I never took one cent in cash from the bank and put it in my own pocket. I never took a dollar belonging to other people."

Stensland made no attempt to deny his guilt and only tried to minimize it. His confession began with a statement that he was surprised to learn the total loss involved in the bank's failure would reach $2,000,000. He said: "I cannot understand how the shortage can be $2,000,000. To my certain knowledge my liability to the bank does not exceed $500,000."

"My indebtedness began a long while ago, in 1896. It was a small affair, a small amount, and God knows I never intended to steal. I was in a tight hole and needed the money. I put my own note, genuine, not forged, in the box. Then it was suggested to me that the bank examiner would stand for it and he did."

"Who suggested it?"

"Hering. It was the beginning. He pointed out, in a roundabout way at first, that it was easy to obtain the money that way. Then when my own notes became too numerous he suggested forgeries."

"How many forgeries did you do yourself?"

"Not one. Hering, I think, did all."

Cashier Hering was filled with bitterness when he read the statement cabled from Tangier in which Stensland accused him of being the author of the ruin of the bank. He denied this with much energy and reiterated his statements of Monday, in which he declared Stensland led him into trouble instead of he leading Stensland.

WARSHIP WANTED.

Government Asked to Furnish a Vessel to Go After Fugitive.

Chicago, Sept. 4.—Assistant State's Attorney Barbour has made a demand on the United States government for a warship in which to bring Paul O. Stensland, the fugitive banker now under arrest at Tangier, back to this country. The request was sent by Mr. Barbour to Governor Deneen, following a series of communications between the state executive and Acting Secretary of State Adee at Washington. Mr. Barbour urged the seeming peril of bringing Stensland across foreign countries where the prisoner might suddenly balk at the prospect of returning to the United States. Moreover, Mr. Barbour fears that Stensland may kill himself, and points out with vigor to the advisability of having him brought back to this country as a Federal prisoner on board a warship.

Attorney General Stead and Assistant State's Attorney Barnett were busy preparing a petition to President Roosevelt asking him to see the government of Morocco was asked to turn the prisoner over to the United States authorities without trouble.

Governor Deneen, at Springfield, received the following telegram from Acting Secretary of State Adee: "There is no extradition treaty with Morocco. Do you wish us to request the sultan to render up Stensland as a friendly act on evidence shown of his guilt?"

NELSON FOULS GANS.

Latter Is Given the Decision Over the Dane.

FORTY-TWO ROUNDS.

Negro Pugilist Fought Fair During the Long Ring Battle, but His Opponent Indulged Constantly in Butting.

Goldfield, Nev., Sept. 4.—Battling Nelson deliberately fouled Joe Gans in the forty-second round of the best and longest fight seen in Nevada or on the Pacific slope in many years. Both men were tired when the fight ended, but Gans was apparently the stronger. He was away ahead on points, and had smashed and cut Nelson all through the fight without being badly hurt himself. Shortly after the forty-second round began the men were in their usual clinch. Nelson had his head on Gans' shoulder and his arm down. Several times he hit Gans below the belt, apparently feeling for a vital spot. At last he drew back his right arm and hit Gans a vicious blow square on the groin. The negro sank to his knees and rolled over on his back. Referee Siler, without hesitating, ordered Nelson to his corner and awarded the fight to Gans on a foul. Siler's decision received almost unanimous approval. All through the long contest Nelson had employed rough tactics. He repeatedly butted Gans, and had to have his head hauled away by the referee.

Referee Siler stated to the Associated Press that while he would not say that the foul was intentional, there was no doubt that it had been committed. Nelson, he said, had used his usual tactics all through the fight, and while he knew that Nelson was butting whenever he had an opportunity, he did not disqualify him for the reason that because he saw that it was not hurting Gans, and as no other referee had ever disqualified Nelson for doing the same thing, he did not feel like doing it. Besides, the people were there to see the fight, and he did not want to disappoint them.

Siler was loudly cheered as he left the ring, as was Gans, who was carried to his dressing room. Nelson and his seconds were hissed as they departed.

Billy Nolan, Nelson's manager, made a disconnected statement in which he said that Gans had promised not to claim the decision on a foul, and yet he jumped at the very first opportunity to make such a claim. All Nelson would say was that Gans was tired and quiet.

Gans, in many ways, put up a most remarkable battle. Of course, his skill as a boxer was expected to be shown, but his endurance surprised every one. His work was the more wonderful when it is known that in the thirty-third round he broke his right hand. Never after that did he strike a blow with it with the exception of a few short arm jolts while clinching. He did all his work with his left hand, and put it all over Nelson. Gans' generalship was shown after he broke his hand. In the thirty-third round he landed a hard right hand punch on the side of Nelson's face. A bone in the hand snapped and Gans snapped and Gans stepped back with an expression of pain. He limped around as though he had stepped on his foot or turned it, and no one realized that he had badly injured his right hand, although it was suspected that it might have been injured.

Gans stated after the fight that Nelson intentionally fouled him. He said he knew he could finish Nelson, as he was comparatively strong, and Nelson was growing weaker all the time.

"Larry" Sullivan announced for Gans that he would fight Nelson in two weeks, as he was sure he could whip him, and did not want to take advantage of the foul. Gans explained his course of battle by saying that he did not want to box Nelson for fear of tiring himself. He found early in the game that he could protect himself in clinches, and also realized that the exertion in fighting that way was much less than if he stood back and did some showy boxing. He was hitting Nelson all the time and maneuvering so as to make the Dane do most of the work.

DEATH OF MISS EMMA PARNELL.

Miss Emma Parnell, after a lingering illness, died at 2:15 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the home of her mother, Mrs. P. A. Parnell. She was 21 years old and was reared in the Harvey neighborhood. Lovely in person and character, she was admired and beloved by a large circle of friends, who deeply mourn her death and sympathize with the grief stricken family. She was a member of the Methodist church, devout in her christian life.

Miss Parnell leaves her mother, four sisters and two brothers: Mrs. J. H. Edge, Misses Eunie, Ellie and Lillie Parnell and Alvin and Henry Parnell.

The funeral will be held from the family home, formerly the residence of Judge Brietz and family, this morning at 10 o'clock, interment at the city cemetery. The Eagle learns there will be no service held at the home.

WAS SEXTON TWENTY YEARS.

The following paragraph, written in connection with the report of the death of Mr. H. H. Jones, was by accident omitted from the article in the Eagle yesterday morning:

Mr. Jones was a native of Williamson Co., Tenn., and came to Hill county, in 1855. The following year he was married to Miss H. M. Wadley, and moved with his wife to Bryan in 1867. He resided in Bryan thirty-six years and was for twenty years sexton in charge of the city cemetery.

SHOULDER TO SHOULDER.

Producing Classes Should Thus Stand, Says Mr. Hearst.

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 4.—Hon. W. R. Hearst, as guest of the local trades assembly, addressed nearly 3,000 persons here Monday. In the course of his speech Mr. Hearst said:

"The producing classes should stand shoulder to shoulder in the struggle against exploiting corporations. I have been a member of the labor committee in the house of representatives, and I know the attitude of the corporations on the labor question."

"The insincerity of these corporation attorneys before the committee has been made clear to me in several ways. I have seen attorneys for protected interests appear before the labor committee and ask for cheap labor in order to compete successfully in foreign markets, and I have seen these same attorneys on the same day step right across the hall to the committee on ways and means and ask for higher protection, in order to pay higher wages."

"The laws are made to favor the corporations, and they are largely made by attorneys for the corporations. Judge Parker, a typical corporation attorney, says there are enough laws, and that the people do not need or desire any more. I say there are more than enough wrong kinds of law, but not enough of the right kinds of laws. I do not advocate a strictly labor union party. I do not urge class distinction, but the abolishment of it."

"My programme is not Socialism or radicalism or extreme of any kind. I call it Americanism. And to my mind it is simply a plan to put into practical operation the plan of government."

"I believe American labor should be protected against Chinese labor and against the entering wedge of oriental conditions. If American men were able to fight in the tropics they are able to work in the tropics if properly paid and properly cared for."

"I believe the tariff should be modified and public ownership inaugurated, but that both should be done cautiously and conservatively. I believe in the restraint and regulation of trusts and monopolies by law. I believe in the prison penalty for the respectable representative of criminal combinations."

"I believe in the direct responsibility of all representatives to the people and in terms of office so short that this responsibility will never be forgotten."

BRYAN AT CHICAGO.

"This Is Like Getting Home," Remark-ed the Nebraskan.

Chicago, Sept. 4.—Hon. W. J. Bryan arrived Tuesday morning. He was met at the station by a large party of local Democrats, made up of members of the Iroquois and Jefferson clubs. The first man to greet Mr. Bryan as he stepped from the train was Mayor Dunne, with whom he shook hands warmly, remarking: "This is like getting home." The entire party then posed for a photograph in front of the train, which was placarded from end to end.

Mr. Bryan's programme for the day comprised an informal reception at the Auditorium hotel, which lasted through several hours. Shortly before noon he was driven to the headquarters of the Iroquois club, where he was entertained at luncheon. Addresses were made by President Charles Hart and Mr. Bryan. In the evening Mr. Bryan will be the guest of the Jefferson club at a banquet in the Auditorium hotel.

SPLENDID HAT EXHIBIT.

Parks & Waldrop's Show Windows Tell the Story From the Bearing Animal to the Finished Hat

Do you know how hats are made? If not you will be interested in the Stetson hat exhibit to be seen in Parks & Waldrop's show windows. It is at once attractive and educational, as well as a display which indicates the superiority of Stetson hats, famous the world around. These hats and what they are made of are shown from the skin of the fur bearing animal to the finished product—the latest style fall hat shapes. Here may be seen the "Nutria" for the finest hats made; the "Coney" of the medium grade and Belgian hare fur for the cheapest hat. The skin after removal from the fur is shown. the various grades of "blown" fur, the hat before and after shrinking, when first shaped, and last, ready for the wearer.

The exhibit was secured by Mr. Waldrop on his recent visit to the mammoth Stetson factory in Philadelphia, and with the line of new style hats, forms one of the most attractive window displays the Eagle representative has ever seen.

RECOVERY OF CASH.
It Will Be Difficult Matter to Secure Money Stensland Deposited.
Washington, Sept. 4.—The state department is more greatly concerned over the steps taken to tie up the deposit of money which has been made in a bank at Tangier, Morocco, by President Stensland of the Milwaukee Avenue State bank of Chicago than the extradition of the fugitive banker himself. It is the impression that no international complications will arise if the authorities quietly kidnap Stensland and return him to this country for trial, but it is an entirely different question when it comes to the recovery of money deposited in a foreign bank regardless of whether the money is stolen or not. There are certain questions of international law involved which must be settled before the deposit can be gained for the creditors of the defunct Chicago bank.
Acting Secretary Adee asked the solicitor for the state department for a ruling to determine just what the state department may do. The deposit is said to be about $12,000. It is said Stensland may also have other funds in foreign banks.

PROFITABLE PUGILISM.
Receipts of Gans-Nelson Fight Seventy-Eight Thousand Dollars.
Goldfield, Nev., Sept. 4.—It was announced Monday night that the films of the moving pictures became exhausted after the thirty-eighth round of the Gans-Nelson fight. As a result the concluding rounds will not be shown in the pictures.

President Rickard stated that the receipts of the fight amounted approximately to $78,000 and that the number of spectators at the ringside aggregated 7,000. This is the greatest amount of money taken in for a prize fight in the history of the ring.

In answer to the report he had instructed Nelson to hit low, Nolan said: "No; there is absolutely nothing in the report. Why, Nelson was as strong in the forty-second round as he was in the fifth. Gans was contenting himself throughout with loafing and resting and Nelson finally decided to do the same thing. Gans was all in at the time and would not have lasted around five rounds. I think I have been jobbed. You remember my statement to the press in which I told why I believed there was a job on foot to give the fight to Gans. I told you about the clique of San Francisco men who came here with as much of Gans' money as they could possibly get; of the remarks which I have overheard that at last they had Gans and Nelson just where they wanted them; of a certain Goldfield man who had in his custody thousands of dollars to be placed on the colored man at any old price. The significance of these things is now explained. I don't make any charges against Siler, but I know that Nelson did not foul Gans. I don't care who says that he did."

One of Nelson's seconds stated that Nelson was dizzy when he was called for the forty-second round and this may have had something to do with the fouling of Gans.

RECEIVING ESTIMATES.
Will Require Eight Million Dollars to Maintain State Government.

Austin, Sept. 4.—The comptroller is receiving estimates from various different state institutions and departments of government as to expenses for the next two years. This information will be placed in the comptroller's report and furnished to the governor for the benefit of the next legislature. Of different estimates received all are considered conservative, though they show a slight increase over those submitted two years ago. From what has been received it is estimated that it will require $8,000,000 to maintain the government for the next two years. It is said that it will be imperative upon the legislature to provide this amount.

FOUGHT ABOUT FIGHT.
One Participant Kicked Upon His Head With Fatal Result.

Lockport, N. Y., Sept. 4.—As the result of a quarrel caused by a dispute over the Gans-Nelson fight, Joseph Lynch, twenty-eight years old, was kicked on the head and killed. It is alleged by a companion with whom he had been drinking, John Condery, forty years old, is under arrest charged with the murder. The tragedy took place at a hotel about a mile west of Gasport.

The majority of these cases have as their grounds infidelity. Forty-four suits have been filed claiming personal damages against railroads.

There is nine feet of water on low lying lands, giving the country for miles the appearance of an open sea. The inhabitants have sought refuge in the hills and are depending for subsistence on raids made on half ripe wheat fields situated on high ground.
